

Weekly One Liners 7th to 13th July, 2025PM Modi Attends 17th BRICS Summit in Brazil

Prime Minister Narendra Modi took part in the 17th BRICS Summit held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil on 6–7 July 2025. Leaders from BRICS countries met to talk about global reforms, peace and security, multilateral cooperation, and the growing role of Artificial Intelligence (AI). The summit was important as it focused on giving a stronger voice to the Global South and shaping a more balanced world order.

Focus on Global Governance and Security

During the session on “Reform of Global Governance and Peace and Security”, PM Modi stressed the need to update global institutions like the UN Security Council, IMF, World Bank, and WTO. He said these organizations were formed in the 20th century and cannot handle today’s challenges unless they are reformed. He also thanked other leaders for including strong support for UN reforms in the Summit Declaration.

On the topic of peace and security, Modi raised concern about rising terrorism. He referred to the Pahalgam terror attack in April 2025, calling it not just an attack on India but on all humanity. He urged the world to act strongly against terrorism and punish those who support or protect terrorists. He appreciated the BRICS countries for condemning the attack and stressed that there should be zero tolerance and no double standards when it comes to terrorism.

Call for Dialogue Amid Global Conflicts

Modi also spoke about the ongoing conflicts in West Asia and Europe, describing them as serious matters. He said India has always believed in resolving disputes through dialogue and diplomacy and is ready to help in any peace efforts. This shows India’s consistent role as a peace supporter on the world stage.

Strengthening Multilateralism and Promoting AI

In the second session on “Multilateral, Economic-Financial Affairs and AI”, the Prime Minister said BRICS must remain united to deal with global changes and uncertainties. He gave four ideas to make BRICS stronger,

1. The BRICS New Development Bank should fund projects based on countries’ real needs and focus on long-term success.
2. BRICS should set up a Science and Research Repository to support Global South countries.
3. The group should secure critical mineral supply chains to reduce risks.
4. BRICS must work for Responsible AI, balancing innovation and AI governance.

Rio Declaration Adopted

At the end of the summit, all member countries adopted the ‘Rio de Janeiro Declaration’, which included shared goals on global reforms, peace, technology, and financial development. PM Modi also thanked Brazil’s President for the warm welcome and successful organization of the summit.

BRICS Strongly Condemns Pahalgam Attack at Rio Summit – Rio de Janeiro Declaration

At the 17th BRICS Summit held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, on July 6–7, 2025, member countries came together to adopt the Rio Declaration. The group strongly condemned the Pahalgam terror attack, supported India’s call for zero tolerance against terrorism, and discussed urgent global reforms. This summit highlighted BRICS’ growing unity on issues of security, global fairness, and inclusivity.

BRICS Condemns Terror Attack in Pahalgam

In a strong message, the BRICS nations condemned the terrorist attack in Jammu and Kashmir’s Pahalgam on April 22, 2025, describing it as a crime against humanity. They supported India’s position on having zero tolerance towards terrorism. The Rio Declaration clearly stated that cross-border terrorism, terror financing, and safe havens for terrorists must be opposed globally and without any double standards. BRICS also stressed that each country has the main responsibility to stop terrorism within its borders, following international law.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, while speaking at the summit, thanked the leaders for their strong support and called for strict global actions against terrorism. He reminded the world that the Global South, including India, has often suffered due to double standards in the fight against terrorism.

PM Modi Pushes for Global Reforms

During his address, PM Modi raised the issue of unfair global systems, saying that many countries, especially from the Global South, are left out of major decision-making. He said that bodies like the UN Security Council, WTO, and global financial institutions need urgent reforms to reflect today’s world. Modi compared old systems to typewriters in the age of AI, stressing that without changes in voting rights, leadership roles, and governance, these institutions will remain outdated.

Modi pointed out that two-thirds of humanity, especially in Africa, Asia, and Latin America, do not have proper representation in global institutions. He said this was not just about fairness but also about making these bodies more effective and credible.

From 6 to 7 July 2025, leaders of BRICS nations gathered in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, for the 17th BRICS Summit. They came together to discuss how to build a more fair, equal, and sustainable world. The summit was important because it showed a united stand on global reforms, welcomed new members, and launched new efforts in health, climate, and technology.

United for a Fairer World

At the summit, the leaders adopted the Rio de Janeiro Declaration, which calls for changes in how global organisations like the United Nations and World Trade Organization work. They said these systems should be fairer, more democratic, and reflect today’s world.

The leaders also agreed to work more closely in areas such as,

- Politics and security
- Economy and trade
- Culture and people-to-people ties

Prime Minister Narendra Modi supported these ideas and said that the Global South—countries in Asia, Africa, and Latin America—must have a bigger say in world decisions. He also stressed the need to update old institutions to match modern challenges.

New Members and Big Initiatives

This year's summit was special because Indonesia officially became a full BRICS member. Eleven other countries, including Belarus, Nigeria, Cuba, and Vietnam, joined as BRICS partners. This expansion shows BRICS' growing influence and support worldwide.

The leaders also announced three new plans,

1. BRICS Climate Finance Framework – to help countries fund eco-friendly growth.
2. Global AI Governance Statement – to guide safe and fair use of artificial intelligence.
3. Partnership to Eliminate Socially Determined Diseases – to fight health problems caused by poverty and inequality.

These steps show BRICS' goal to be more than just a political group—it's now working on real-world problems that affect people's lives.

Stronger Global Voice for Developing Nations

The BRICS leaders spoke firmly about the need to reform global bodies like the UN Security Council, World Bank, and IMF. They said these should better reflect the needs of developing countries. They also called for,

- Fairer voting rights
- Equal leadership roles for women and different regions
- Ending unfair sanctions by powerful countries

PM Modi shared India's support for inclusive multilateralism, where every country, big or small, has a say.

Peace, Safety, and Digital Trust

BRICS also talked about peace and security. Leaders said global conflicts must be solved through talks, not violence. They condemned terrorism, destruction of civilian infrastructure, and harmful trade actions.

In the digital world, BRICS agreed to build rules for cyber safety, prevent online crime, and keep the internet open, safe, and stable.

India Ranked Among World's Most Equal Countries by World Bank

India has been named the fourth most equal country in the world by the World Bank, based on the Gini Index for 2025. With a score of 25.5, India has achieved a strong level of income equality, ahead of many developed nations. This is a big step for a large and diverse country, and shows how government policies and poverty reduction efforts are creating real change.

Understanding the Gini Index and India's Rank

The Gini Index measures how fairly income is shared in a country. A score of 0 means perfect equality, while 100 means complete inequality. India's score of 25.5 makes it one of the most equal countries in the world, just behind Slovak Republic (24.1), Slovenia (24.3), and Belarus (24.4).

India's ranking is better than China (35.7), the United States (41.8), and all G7 and G20 nations. Back in 2011, India's Gini score was 28.8, so this improvement over a decade shows steady progress. The World Bank released this data in its July 2025 report, covering 167 countries.

Big Drop in Poverty Rates

India's improved equality is closely linked to falling poverty levels. According to the World Bank's Spring 2025 Poverty and Equity Brief, the number of people in extreme poverty dropped from 16.2% in 2011–12 to just 2.3% in 2022–23. That means about 171 million Indians have come out of poverty in the last 12 years.

If we use the new global poverty line of $3 per day, the poverty rate for 2022–23 is still low at 5.3%. These figures highlight the success of India's long-term efforts to improve lives across cities and villages.

Key Government Schemes That Helped

Several government programmes have helped reduce poverty and increase income equality. These include,

- PM Jan Dhan Yojana: Over 55.69 crore people now have bank accounts, which allows direct transfer of benefits.
- Aadhaar & DBT (Direct Benefit Transfer): Over 142 crore Aadhaar cards issued, helping ensure benefits reach the right people. DBT has saved the government ₹3.48 lakh crore so far.
- Ayushman Bharat: This health scheme has issued over 41.34 crore cards, offering free treatment up to ₹5 lakh per family per year. A special scheme also supports citizens aged 70+, no matter their income.

- Stand-Up India: This scheme gives loans to SC/ST and women entrepreneurs, with ₹62,807 crore already funded.
- PM Vishwakarma Yojana: A total of 29.95 lakh artisans have registered for tools, training, and credit support.
- PMGKAY (Free Food Grains Scheme): Reached 80.67 crore people, ensuring food security even during tough times like COVID-19.

These programmes focus on financial inclusion, health, food security, and job creation—helping bridge gaps across society.

India's Maratha Forts Added to UNESCO World Heritage List

Maratha Military Landscapes of India were added to the UNESCO World Heritage List during the 47th session of the World Heritage Committee in Paris. This important recognition covers 12 historic forts built by the Maratha rulers between the 17th and 19th centuries. The listing highlights their unique military design and the rich history of India's fort architecture.

What Is the Maratha Military Landscapes?

The Maratha Military Landscapes are a group of 12 forts that show the smart planning and strength of the Maratha Empire. These forts were built across different terrains — hills, coasts, and plains — to protect the kingdom and control trade routes. They include Salher Fort, Shivneri Fort, Lohgad, Khanderi Fort, Raigad, Rajgad, Pratapgad, Suvarnadurg, Panhala Fort, Vijay Durg, Sindhudurg (all in Maharashtra) and Gingee Fort in Tamil Nadu.

These forts were known for their clever use of nature, water storage systems, and strong walls. Built mostly between the 1600s and 1800s, they show how Marathas used military skills to build powerful defense structures.

UNESCO's Decision and the Committee Meeting

The UNESCO World Heritage Committee took this decision during its 47th session in Paris. On X (formerly Twitter), UNESCO posted:

"New inscription on the @UNESCO #WorldHeritage List: Maratha Military Landscapes of India, #India."

This nomination was part of the 2024–25 UNESCO World Heritage cycle, and Indian officials had worked hard to present the historical and cultural importance of these forts to the world. The recognition gives international importance to India's fort heritage and adds value to future conservation efforts.

India's Pride and Historical Significance

The Maratha forts were not just buildings — they were symbols of resistance, planning, and unity. Leaders like Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj used them to build and protect the Maratha Empire. Some of these forts, like Raigad and Pratapgad, are especially famous in Indian history.

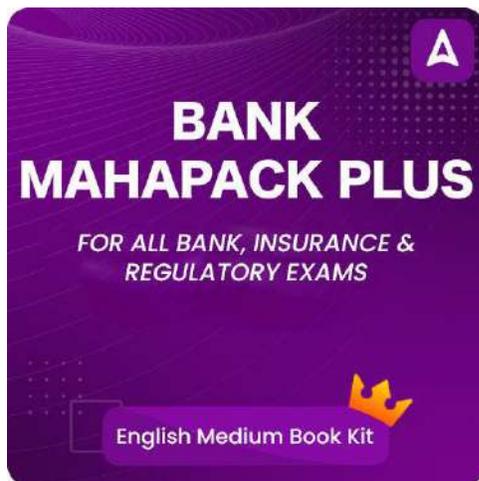

For example, Pratapgad Fort, located about 22 km from Mahabaleshwar, played a key role in many battles and still stands strong today.

Indian historians, heritage experts, and government officials have welcomed this decision, saying it will help promote tourism, boost local pride, and ensure better care of these monuments.
